

The Dulwich College (Singapore) Classical Façade is a replica of the Barry Buildings centerpiece in Dulwich College, London. Built in 1869, as part of Charles Barry Junior's design for a New College, the appearance was unique and exceptional at the time. Noted for its eclectic style, Barry referred to it as 'North Italianate of the Thirteenth Century'.

The Singapore version was completed by Jay and John Fung of LWC Alliance Pte. Ltd. in July 2016